WE LOVE PUDDINGS

Back by popular demand is our sumptuous sticky toffee pudding. Here's a bit of background on this modern British classic.

Sticky toffee pudding is first known to have been served in the UK in the 1970s at the Sharrow Bay Country House Hotel in the Lake District.

The original recipe, however, apparently came from two Canadian Air Force officers who lodged at a hotel in Lancashire during the Second World War. Their recipe was then adopted by the owner and published in a compilation called The Good Food Guide Dinner Party Book. This makes sense because the pudding uses a batter more akin to that of an American muffin, rather than an English sponge.
